

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Autumn Passes.
Down the dates the Autumn goes,
On her cheeks the sunset rose;
And a glamor in her eyes
Holding hints of Paradise—
Glimpses and hints of morning skies.

All the wealth of all the lands,
This is compassed in her hands,
Oxen-gold of mere and meat;
Not the ore of grasp and greed;
Just the promise of the seed.

We have found her presence sweet,
Fair we are to stay her feet;
But evasive as the blown
Mist around some sea-side home,
While we look on, she has flown!—By Clinton Standard in the Times Magazine.

R. E. Lee Centennial.

Mrs. Taylor Elliston, president of Hollywood Memorial Association, has received the following communication from Mrs. M. J. Behan, president of the Confederate Southern Memorial Association:

"The attention of the memorial associations throughout the South is directed to the circular letter issued by the Confederate Memorial Literary Society and Lee Camp, No. 1, Confederate Veterans, Richmond, Va., for the purpose of securing general observance of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of the great and immortal Robert E. Lee, commanding general of the Confederacy."

"The people of the South will unite heartily with Virginia in celebrating one of the most important events in her history. The military career of Robert E. Lee caused him to rank as the greatest military general of the nineteenth century, and in his private and public life, he gave a noble example to the youth of this country."

"Therefore, in accordance with the suggestion offered by the Confederate Memorial Literary Society and Lee Camp No. 1, Confederate Veterans of Richmond, Va., and in obedience to General Order No. 23, issued by General Stephen D. Lee, commander-in-chief, United Confederate Veterans, I, the president of the Confederate Southern Memorial Association, do hereby recommend that all Memorial Associations provide, in an appropriate manner, for the celebration of this important event, and that efforts be made to have the celebration approximately simultaneous with that of the Richmond associations, by assembling on Saturday, January 18, 1907, at noon, and that during the service the hymns, 'How Firm a Foundation,' 'Ye Saints of the Lord,' and 'For All the Saints Who Fly Their Labors Best' be sung. Furthermore, that the reading of General Robert E. Lee's farewell address to the Confederate Army be included in the program."

(Signed) M. J. BEHAN,
President Confederate Southern Memorial Association.

MRS. GEORGE A. WILLIAMS,
Corresponding Secretary."

Sunrise.

BY WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE.
(From Venus and Adonis.)

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

Lov' here the gentle lark weary of rest,
From his moist cabinet mounts up on high,
And wakes the morning, from whose silver breast
The sun arises in his majesty;

Who doth the world so gloriously behold,
The cedar-tops and hills seem burnish'd gold.
